26th Sunday of Ordinary Time –September 25, 2022

My Brothers and Sisters in the Risen Lord,

The Emperor's New Clothes, written by Hans Christian Andersen, might be a story one remembers from childhood. In this morality tale, an arrogant, egotistical, and pretentious ruler learns a life lesson--that the fabric his clothing and his fine accouterments cannot protect him from the cold consequences of this world. He cannot wrap himself in riches. He learns, as he traipses about amid sneers from parade-goers, he is just a human being, like everyone else in this world. And it takes a child to call out this childish man, who ultimately cannot change his preposterous ways.

Today is the Twenty-sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time, and in Luke's Gospel, the Parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus, we recognize a similar but more compelling description regarding redemption and the promise of heaven. Jesus, interestingly, does not name the rich man in the parable, but describes him as being dressed regally and eating "scrumptiously." As rich as he is in wealth, he not rich in compassion – and not willing to offer any of his treasures to another person. Lazarus, a poor soul, covered in sores, waits diligently at this man's gate while dogs lick his wounds, but the rich man looks past him and offers him nothing to ease his pain. When they both die, Lazarus goes to heaven and the other man, goes to hell with no way to cross over to the other side. Despite the fact the rich man believed in God (in that he appealed to Abraham to save him), he could not see that in offering nothing of himself to another person—his inaction doomed him to suffer the consequences of his poor performance in life.

In this gospel of sharp contrasts, Jesus is asking us to open our eyes and hearts to what is around us and love our neighbor. It applies to everything we hold dear in our lives—privilege, money, talent, education—all those things we can share with others if we are poised to do so. We all have something to offer to one another, and especially to those who are in need. A few weeks ago, we learned about the narrow gate for entrance into Heaven. Are we narrowing this gate even more by how we treat another person who asks for our help? It's a question we all should ponder, as well as these words:

"A life not lived for others is not a life."--St. Teresa of Calcutta.

Yours in Christ, Father Rudy
